Bio-sketch of Pandit Sanjoy Bandopadhyay [in Paragraph format]

Sanjoy Bandopadhyay is an internationally renowned sitar player. He is a maestro per excellence, a multifaceted creative personality, an astute thinker, academician, researcher, and an exemplary guru. A science graduate and a traditionally trained musician, he performed in important music festivals in the country and in four continents, served in top academic positions in multiple universities in the country, and internationally served top-ranking academic institutions under several distinguished assignments. He was involved in national and international collaborative research activities and was showcased in well-indexed academic journals.

Pandit Sanjoy Bandopadhyay received extensive training in sitar playing in Senia-Shahjehanpur, Imdadkhani, and Rampur-Senia gharanas. A beautiful synthesis of the practices and knowledge of these three very famous schools of music can be experienced through his sitar renderings. Professor Sanjoy had his major training in sitar playing from Pandit Radhika Mohan Maitra and Pandit Bimalendu Mukherjee. He started learning music with his father Pt. Peejush Prasanna Bandopadhyay. He also learnt with Pandit Manas Chakraborty, Dr. M.R. Gautam. He had special opportunities of having blessings through intensive musical interactions with Professor Dhruva Tara Joshi, Pandit Ajay Sinha Roy, Pandit Gajanan Rao Joshi and Pandit Shankar Ghosh.

Professor Sanjoy's music gets widely featured in national and international TV and radio channels in India and other countries. He has been awarded prestigious 'Top- Grade' by the Director General, All India Radio. He has 12 audio CDs to his credit. These were published by different reputed music companies in India and the USA. He served as 'Artist in Residence' at the University of Chicago and University of Colorado at Colorado Springs, USA.

He participated at the Plenary Session of UNESCO Conference and other important global and bilateral events. He was invited by the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign as the George A. Miller Visiting Professor. The University of Alberta invited him as Distinguished India Focus Visitor.

Several research journals including Scopus, Web of Science, and SAGE [under post review processing] indexed journals published Professor Bandopadhyay's research papers internationally.

He served the Central University of Sikkim as a Professor in Music under his appointment offer. Earlier, Pandit Bandopadhyay was the Ustad Alauddin Khan Professor of Instrumental Music at the Rabindra Bharati University, Kolkata. Also, he was the Director of the S.M. Tagore Centre of Documentation & Research of Languishing & Obsolescent Musical Instruments, a research center in the same university and the Coordinator of the UGC SAP-DRS Research Project of the Department of Instrumental Music, Rabindra Bharati University. Earlier he also served the Indira Kala Sangeet Vishwavidyalaya, Khairagarh, the first Music University in Asia. He served there as a Reader.

Panditjee is proud that some of his disciples have proved to be exceptionally brilliant and established themselves as foremost musicians of Hindustani Music. This includes, Pandit Kushal Das, Rajrupa Chowdhury, Troilee Dutta, etc.

Sanjoy Bandopadhyay took a very active role in disseminating the Indian Heritage Music as a performer, thinker and pedagogue, academician, and researcher nationally and globally. He trained more than a thousand students in the country and around the globe through his general assignments and personal initiatives. He heartily served Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, West Bengal, and Sikkim. He could successfully transmit his traditional knowledge to his students. He enlightened them and mentored his students to broaden their visions. His students and disciples came out as successful performers, teachers, and thoughtful researchers who ultimately contributed to enriching society with traditional skills and values. His vision about Virtual Music Teaching during the late 1990s² later came out as a pathbreaking tool in propagating Indian thoughts and Heritage Art throughout the globe.
